

AKABI is an international IT consultancy company. We assist our clients with all their Digital Transformations by investing in our people. We are continuously bringing value to our customers for more than 10 years now, driven by two main objectives: quality and client's satisfaction.

We are established in Belgium, in Luxembourg and in Paris. We focus mainly on quality and long-term relationship, moreover we favour a participative management style. Our consultants are providing either a time and means consultancy or fixed-priced projects.

As part of our solid growth plans, we are looking for a trainee specialized in software development to strengthen and expand our teams.

Why joining AKABI ?

You will be someone who counts: by investing on quality rather than quantity, AKABI keeps its deeply human-centred approach of management. You will be involved in a Team and will participate to the life of the company, while sharing those good times together that are making AKABI so different.

You will become an expert: AKABI is a reference company on the market, we have diversified, well-known and truthful clients that provide us fulfilling missions. Our consultants are skilled and animated by team-spirit and a same passion, you will learn from them as much as they will learn from you.

You will work within a responsible company: AKABI is ensuring a healthy growth leaned on a no debt and no HR turnover strategy, we invest in our people and build long-term relationship with them. AKABI is also a global player and provides an environmental company policy: the greener, the better!
